

Conviction Brings 15-Year Sentence

A Milam petit jury late Wednesday found Hipolito Gonzales, guilty of murder with malice. He was sentenced to 15 years in the state penitentiary under the new Criminal Code which allows the defendant to choose either the Court of jury in deciding sentence in a finding of guilty. Attorneys for prosecution and defense were preparing closing arguments at presstime Wednesday in the murder trial of Hipolito Gonzales, in its second day in the Milam 20th District Court. And the Court's charge to the jury was being prepared. Gonzales took the stand in his own behalf Wednesday morning and testified that he had fought with Pedro "Pete" Gonzales the evening of August 21, 1965 in the La Rumba Bar, Cameron, but not the deceased.

He said he did not remember fighting with Simon Amador, who was stabbed to death that night. Gonzales and two other men have been charged in Amador's death with murder with malice. Dist. Atty. John B. Henderson, Jr., cross examined Gonzales at length on events during the evening that Amador died. Gonzales reiterated on the stand that he had fought and even kicked Pedro Gonzales, but did not remember fighting with the deceased. The defendant told the jury he had about $6 that evening he and some friends came into the La Rumba, where he testified he bought beer for some friends and had "three or four beers himself and maybe a couple earlier", but "had not been drunk". A fight started some time after he entered La Rumba and he recalled hitting "with his hand" "Pete" who, he said, had grabbed him, Hipolito later knocking "Pete" down and kicking him.

Gonzales acknowledged that blood was found on the front of the shirt he was wearing that night. Other testimony was heard by the 12-man petit jury which was selected by attorneys in the case Tuesday morning. Mrs. R. R. Martinez, of Cameron, acted as interpreter for a couple of witnesses in the trial. Witnesses included: Pedro Gonzales, of Davilla; Susie Trezino, Tracy; Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus, of Cameron; James Hill, of Cameron; Carroll Green, Cameron mortician; Joaquin Garcia, of Sharp; and Jim Guzman, of Sharp. Out-of-county witnesses included: Philip Martinez, Sunday Frank Tobar, Victoria Mendoza, Henry Mendoza and Geneva Eva Martinez.

Presiding was 20th District Judge W. C. Wallace. Jurors are: Herman Mueck, R. G. Tumlinson, Jack Crane, Theo Telg, Homer Doss, A. T. Swanzy, Anton Moraw, Arnold Rummel, August Helpert, John C. Hirt, Grady Coker and Halbert Campbell.

Governor Commutes Cook's Sentence

To Life In Prison

Gov. John Connally Tuesday commuted the death sentence of Oscar F. Cook, 27, to life imprisonment. Cook was scheduled to die early Saturday in the electric chair for the May 14, 1963, slaying of his former mother-in-law, Mrs. Doris Crow, of Davilla. The Governor commuted the sentence on the recommendation of the State Board of Pardons and Pardoners.

At a June 2 hearing in Austin Milam County Atty. John B. Henderson Jr. asked the board to deny commutation because Cook had threatened to kill all the members of the family of his estranged wife.

Testimony at Cook's trial showed he entered Mrs. Crow's home looking for his former wife at her parents' home, pulled a pistol and wounded three of the Crow family before killing Mrs. Crow, and wounding himself.

Medallions Go To 3 Historic Spots

Medallions have been designated by the Texas Historical Society for three sites in the Cameron area. Miss Mary Belle Batte, head of Milam County Historical Committee, said the historical markers would be placed at the site of the Sul Ross Home in City Park, at the Little River Baptist Church and at The Sycamores, former George Green home now occupied by the Joe Hickmans. George Green was a colorful early Texas pioneer and one of the original signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence, Miss Batte reported. Sul Ross was a governor of Texas from 1887 to 1891 and was born in a home which was removed from the City Park site. Announcement of these designations was the first cited by the Texas Historical Society since the State Centennial days of 1936 in

FENCE CLEARED; BIDS SOUGHT ON CHAIN-LINK TYPE

City Secretary Buddy Fuller said clearing work was continuing at the new municipal airport site on US 77 north of Cameron.

The old fence has been taken down in preparation for a chain link fence. Bids on the fence work were opened this week, but were rejected because metal fence posts had not been included.

Fuller said grading stakes had also been placed at the site.

The airport, to be named Cameron Municipal Airport, has received $43,400 in federal and state funds. The federal government originally approved a $25,000 allocation and later added $13,400 because of revised estimates on land and construction. State assistance in the amount of $10,000 came following a bill introduced by Rep. Milton Schiller.

Designation for the state and federal monies is for land airport development and clear zones, construction and lighting of a NW-SE runway (56' x 3290'), taxiway and apron, installation of beacon, lighted wind cone and segmented circle, approaching clearing and fencing.

Work also progressed on E. 8th Street with curb-gutter and grading work, and on repairs along Jackson Street.

Fuller said he had not received any applications for police chief. The post was left vacant last week with the resignation of Elvin Hoskins, Cameron police chief since October 1960.

Alvin Hefft, water department superintendent, said the city had leased the municipal swimming pool to Paul Edmonds. Hours at the pool are 2 to 7 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 6 p.m. on weekends.

Swimming lessons will be available in the mornings probably starting next week, Hefft said.

GRIFFIN MEMORIAL

School officials have reported that the K. D. Griffin Memorial Scholarship Fund has now exceeded $600. D. R. Dodson, superintendent, said donations to the Memorial are still being received.

A visit to North Fort Hood during the past week or so would find some 70 members of Milam's Company C checking off the "enemy" in field problems.

One observer said Capt. Joe Wilkinham's unit was dubbed the "aggressor." And it was not yet determined whether the Milam unit "won or lost" in its role of invading "enemy" territory.

The big tanks of the 112th Armored, parent of the Third Battalion, of which Company C is a part, rumble over the hill and dale of that dry North Fort plain. The unit will be cleaning up equipment prior to their return to Cameron Saturday after the annual two-week stint.

Not many complaints, though. It is brief duty compared to a tour in Vietnam.

Rev. Brand, supply minister at Cameron's First Presbyterian Church this summer, has unique gifts. He is one of few in our recall whose ecclesiastical rhetoric is so concise, so well taken without an iota of note or reference.

First Presbyterians would delight in your hearing this gifted man, and attending to his Message.

Not meaning to, but in the current reconstruction of East Eighth St. workmen strike a waterline once in a while in the necessary deep grading for curb.

Martin, O' reliable when it comes to abandon, gives his vote of thanks for a curbline full of water once in a while.

It is great fun, testifies he, to leap over the span, now already dried up, and miss by a foot or two.

And he hopes, confidentially, says he, that before everything is finished and it is still otherwise dry, that a little more city water will trickle down the street.

Flea Hoppers Migrating In

By J. D. Moore

Most farmers are familiar with the cotton flea hopper and its habits. This insect spends the winter in the warmer climate south of our area. In the early growing season adult flea hoppers migrate to this area and multiply in host plants, preferably the Horsemint plant. As the host plants mature during late May and early June, the adult fleas migrate to cotton fields where they feed on the terminal buds and start new generations on cotton plants as a result of this natural feeding habit tiny squares on cotton plant are destroyed. The cotton plant makes rapid growth during the month of June and in the absence of fruit the plant develops into a "woody" appearance.

CONTROL - The cotton flea hopper is easy to control. The catch is in their migration pattern. Fields located near an abundance of host plants may become re-infested within 3 days after an application of poison. Most farmers who use a 2-1 mixture find that the residue effect is of some benefit in controlling this insect.

"Dylox" is a new product that proved beneficial in controlling the flea hopper without destroying the beneficial insects. Beneficial insect pismipomat in the butigdhnu building up is important in the prevention of bollworm damage. Entomologists recommend that the early season poisoning be terminated by June 10 to 15 in order for the beneficial insects to build up in numbers.

Bollworm egg laying usually occurs in this area about the first week in July. The beneficial insects need at least three weeks to build-up if they are to combat the bollworm.

The youngest present was William Hugh Powell, 7 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Hugh Powell of Austin. New Look At Beef Market

COLLEGE STATION
Noteworthy shifts are taking place in the beef market, according to a recent talk here by Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist at Texas A&M University. Uvacek was speaking to the National Advisory Commission on Food and Fiber.

For years cattlemen have aimed at producing Prime grade carcasses to get the greatest profit. But today, with increased emphasis on cutability, the lower grades of Choice and Good may be worth more, said Uvacek.

He said in the Southwest there is a noticeable shift toward a heavier weight slaughter calf. At the same time, in the North and East, the shift is toward a lighter weight heavy beef carcass. But, he said, both of these trends are for Good and Choice grade carcasses. The beef carcass of the future may be somewhere in between - about a low Choice quality.

There is a strong demand for low Choice carcasses already, he said. The word "Choice" itself has some merchandising ability, and of course, the grade designation has a value, too.

In the past, he said, feed grains have been in surplus, so the trend was to feed as much of the grain through an animal as possible.

The picture now, however, has almost reversed itself, and we can possibly even see some feed grain shortages developing.

This means the emphasis will shift from marketing grain through the animal to feeding the most efficient animal possible.

"Enjoy that Friedrich feeling."

Niagara Ethion should be applied when 90% of the heads have completely emerged from the boot. A second application 3 to 5 days later is very effective and is recommended. To control Sorghum Midge effectively, use one pint of Ethion per acre, per application, in sufficient water for proper coverage. Ethion for Sorghum Midge control has been thoroughly tested and is officially recommended by state authorities... you can use Ethion with confidence in its effectiveness and economy. Remember... timing of the control program is very important. See your local Niagara dealer for Ethion supplies and technical assistance in its application.

New Gems In Cotton Crown . . .

It is timely that cotton industry leaders have joined in a review of the proposed research and development act of the National Cotton Council.

One would wonder why the market had to be so drastically changed before the competition of synthetics was challenged in the laboratory.

But now it has. A new era of research and promoting the possibilities of cotton should sometime soon begin.

Necessity "mothered" the "Cotton Research and Development Act." And we hope to publish its entirety when it takes final form and is put into use. Cotton's historic influence in Milam and Cen-Tex agriculture is as great as in any part of the cotton country. Its alteration at the hands of government and industry has deepening effect on this area.

Now there is ebb, but in a few years there could be flow of new ideas for new uses as cotton surplus declines and research broadens its modern acceptance.

We hope Cotton's R&D proposals restore some gems to a diminished crown.

Forward View And . . . Firsts . . .

Underestimated for years by its own "lagger" and competitive towns, Cameron turns the tables.

Among several firsts, Cameron has recorded these in the past year or more:

A FIRST . . . in Texas for sponsoring a Town Meeting for a Community Development Clinic organized by the Texas Industrial Commission . . .

A FIRST . . . in Texas as one of the first groups of communities to receive state funds ($10,000 here) for its FAA-approved airport, now abuilding . . .

A FIRST . . . in Texas to complete a matching fund program that enabled use of Texas Library fund ($40,000) to enlarge the library to its present stature.

A FIRST . . . in Texas to host a leaders workshop to aid "limited opportunity families" . . .

A FIRST . . . in Central Texas small cities for inviting and successfully supporting a symphony orchestra concert. . .

These are but a few of the civic activities in that recent year or so during which they developed.

Point is, the view is forward, even further forward than hundreds of other Texas towns of similar size.

Insurance Board Debates Policies

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

State Board of Insurance is disturbed over the "growing tendency" of some insurance companies to cancel out or refuse to renew auto coverage on certain classes of drivers.

At its mid-week (June 15) rate hearing, Board debated whether it should ask for new legislation or put into effect new administrative regulations to deal with the situation.

Board Chairman Wm. Hunter McLean said more and more drivers are being forced into higher-cost "assigned risk plan" coverage because of "unwillingness of companies to voluntarily issue insurance to young drivers, older drivers and drivers with poor driving records."

Another insurance rate boost is anticipated due to increasing accidents, injuries and traffic deaths, and higher repair and hospital costs. Rates were boosted 11.4 per cent in 1965.

McLean placed these among items for consideration at the mid-week meeting.

Revival of a "penalty system" based on number of accidents and serious traffic violations in figuring rates. A version of the system was abandoned four years ago after a brief trial and strong public opposition.

Alteration of the assigned risk plan to force all companies to take a proportionate share of "high-standard" risk coverage.

Action to curb mass cancellations due to class, age, territory or agency and individual cancellations of policies of those who have no record of accidents or moving traffic violations.

Request for more uniform traffic regulations and enforcement procedures from county to county.

Modifications in methods of classifying drivers.

Board wants to find a way to "avoid further drying up" of the insurance market," emphasized McLean.

Companies writing auto insurance in Texas lost $15,000,000 last year on the coverage. McLean calculated earned premiums at $417,000,000, net premiums at $338,000,000, losses at $233,000,000, loss settlement, adjustment and litigation expenses at $42,600,000 and company "expenses" at $125,000,000.

He termed "an all-out, effective traffic accident prevention program" the state's "single greatest need."

McLean said he would urge the insurance industry to take the lead in "bringing safety to our streets and highways."

NEW TAXES?

A state tax rate boost next year is inevitable, according to House Speaker Ben Barnes.

He predicted the 60th Legislature will "eventually face tax legislation."

Barnes declared that increasing cost of education alone will require additional monies raised by taxes. Forty-eight per cent of every tax dollar paid to the state goes to education, he noted.

In a brief preview of his own ideas for legislative action, Barnes said he will ask an increase in juvenile parole officers to help curb teenage crime. He noted a study committee is exploring possible need of legislation dealing with obscene and pornographic publications.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

Dr. John L. Martin of Cameron has returned home after attending the annual convention of the Texas State Chiropractic Association reported that the main speaker at the convention was Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes of Delton.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Trying to keep up with the various satellites the United States has launched is like trying to remember the names of the numerous astronauts. Columbus was lucky he was the only one to discover America, but according to an article in a newspaper I picked up out here yesterday, well I didn't really pick it up, it blew over my face and I found it there when I woke up, one of the satellites put up the other day is different.

It was described as a bug-like craft with all sorts of instruments sticking out and its purpose is to scan the weather out there, analyze sun spots and various connotations of things in outer space, and feed the information back to scientists on earth.

"With this advanced weather information," the article said, "scientists can predict the weather years ahead, even predict when farmers will have fat and lean years."

This is the scientific mind at its worst.

I already know some lean years are coming, they always have, but instead of scientists wracking their brains telling me when I'd a heap rather they spent their energies telling me how to dodge them.

I guess if they put their minds to it and built a multi-million-dollar electronic brain machine, they could calculate about when the tail pipe on any given car will play out, and paste the date on the windshield, but I'd rather see the time spent on making a tail pipe that'd outlast the car. Then they could start on a car that'd outlast the tail pipe, and so on. There's plenty of work for scientists, but they always quit before they're half through. They get their minds stuck on the wrong side of a problem.

By the way, I saw some of those thousands of pictures our rocket sent back from the moon. It'll take a mighty powerful Chamber of Commerce to work one of them into a brochure that'll attract the tourist trade.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WASHINGTON DC. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State.

I am a sixth grade student and I am to make a scrap book and written reports on Japan. I have found some information and pictures to use, but I would like to know about Boy's day and Girl's day in Japan.

B. T.
West Carrolltown
Ohio

Dear B. T.:

Girl's festival is on March 3 and usually called the Doll Festival, or in Japanese, Hina Matsuri. Dolls representing the emperor and empress, court ladies and attendants and models of furniture, utensils, and food are arranged on a series of steps covered with red cloth. The dolls are often very old and handed down from grandmother to mother for each new generation of daughters. Visitors to Tokyo in this season can see beautiful displays of the dolls in the windows of the department stores. This festival is also called the peach festival sometimes because peach blossoms are used in decorations.

Boy's Festival or in Japanese, Sekku, is held on May 5 and is marked by the erection of bamners on poles outside the homes of families with sons. These are in the shape of gaily colored carp. Supposedly the carp swim up waterfalls and boys, like the carp should grow strong and rise to greatness by overcoming all obstacles. Sometimes American families who have lived in Japan bring these carp banners back to the United States with them and you may very occasionally see them when the father raises them outside his house on his son's birthday.

There is also the Shichigosan Festival on November 15 when girls of the age of seven and three and boys of the age of five and three dress up in their best clothes or in various costumes and are taken by their parents to the local Shinto shrine. The girls wear pretty kimonos of bright colors and arrange their hair in the old style. Boys thirty years ago often dressed in the style of warrior or generals or admirals. Now the more often wear cowboy suits or space outfits and helmets.

Recently I was talking with a French citizen who made this statement that the U.S. never had made payment in full to France for the "Louisiana Purchase" of 1803. Could you please give me the facts of this?

C. E. L.
Poland, Ohio

Dear Mr. L.:

As provided for in the treaty with France signed on April 30, 1803, the United States paid 60,000,000 francs ($11,000,000) outright and assumed the claims of American citizens against France in the amount of 29,000,000 francs ($3,750,000). The total cost of the Louisiana Purchase was $15,000,000 which the United States paid in full.

Do you have an inquiry?

How to succeed in business by really trying

Ford sales are at an all-time high.
During May Ford outsold all other car makes!

The word is spreading—fast—that Ford Division is building the best cars it has ever built. And it's true. Never have Ford cars been so good—never have Ford sales been so high.

People discovered our 1966 Ford was the strongest Ford ever built. A strong car, well-engineered, is a quiet car—and the '66 Ford has a ride that is quieter even than some of Europe's most expensive hand-built luxury cars.

Over a million people have already bought Mustangs. This rare blend of sports car excitement and solid value is the most popular new car in history . . . and right now it's the world's best-selling hardtop and convertible.

Wagon buyers are excited about our Magic Doorgate—the greatest step forward in wagon convenience in years. It opens out like a door for people and swings down like a tailgate for cargo. It's standard equipment on all Ford and Fairlane wagons.

Car shoppers discovered a whole new range of comforts and conveniences. The '66 Ford offers power front disc brakes, a Stereo Sonic Tape System, America's largest V-8 to perform on regular fuel, Silent Flo Ventilation that keeps air fresh with all windows closed, and a new Safety/Convenience Control Panel that lets you lock all doors with one switch, has lights to warn if fuel's low or a door's ajar, reminds you to fasten seat belts.

A whole new group of sports minded car buyers has come over to Fairlane. We've redesigned it completely with 30 new models, including GT's, sports luxury XL's, convertibles, Squire wagons, and an exciting new Sport Shift Cruise O Matic Drive (on GT/A models) that gives you the ease of an automatic—or lets you shift manually for the fun of it.

People everywhere are finding out just how much extra value we've built into today's Ford cars—extra value that's the reason why Ford sales have soared to an all-time high.

And that's why Ford Dealers . . . leading from strength . . . are now offering you the best deals ever. There are specially equipped, specially priced Fords, Fairlanes and Mustangs, and special values on all our cars—across the whole line. See them soon.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH

Millions Leave Them There!

THE WORK BENCHES OF GOD

Christians are not turned out on assembly lines.

The skill and patience of many a human soul, the blueprint of Christ's own example, and the unseen but mighty craftsmanship of the Creator Himself—these over the decades bring forth a noble Christian life.

There must be understanding, guidance, faith. There must be a Christian home with sincere, loving parents. There must be prayer, the Bible, worship, thought, study. And at length practice and persistence must win many a victory over self before the world begins to recognize the hand of God in the life of a man.

Nearly in the church you will choose, there are busy hands at the work benches of God.

And room for more—your child's and your own.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

R SNIFFING SALT WATER MAY BE DANGEROUS

Sniffing salt water into and through the nose is an old fashioned home treatment which most medical authorities say can be harmful. The benefits, they state, are small or nonexistent. The pressure caused by sniffing tends to spread germs to new locations faster than it suppresses them.

Sinus trouble is primarily the obstructed flow in or out of the sinuses, which are like caves that connect into the nasal passages. A severe cold and its associated germs may swell the tissues so the entrances to the sinuses are clogged. But, a physician must look for other causes of chronic cases. He must correct the basic trouble. If medication is needed, we can fill any prescription.

Income Tax Tattletales
Last year, Uncle Sam collected an extra $13 million in income taxes because somebody tattled for pay.

Most tips about income tax fraud come anonymously, from people seeking no reward beyond the satisfaction of doing their duty — or of getting even with someone they don't like.

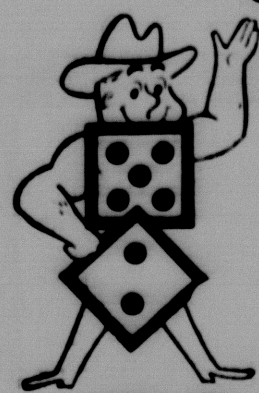

But in 1965, a typical year, 4,000 informers filed formal claims for a reward. And the government paid out $600,000 for their information.

The practice of paying money for tax tips has existed ever since the early days of the republic. In each year's budget Congress sets aside a specific sum for this purpose.

There are those who condemn the whole idea. They argue that tattling is unsportsmanlike, not in keeping with our traditions. Certainly, generations of American readers have despised Tom Sawyer's half brother Sid for tattling on Tom to Aunt Polly.

On the other hand, tax cheaters are not as endearing as Tom Sawyer.

yer. And, as one court put it: "It is the duty of every citizen to communicate to his government any information which he has of the commission of an offense against its laws."

The Internal Revenue Service takes no position on fine philosophical grounds. Its job is simply to collect all the money that the government has coming — and informers are a big help. Using them not only puts the IRS on the track of cheaters but also helps to keep many a tempted citizen honest.

How much can an informer collect? Up to 10 percent of what the government recovers, which can be considerable. However, the exact amount is left largely to the discretion of the IRS.

In one case an informer sued the government, complaining that he wasn't paid as much as his information was worth. But he got nowhere. The court said the IRS is obliged to make an honest evaluation of services rendered, but is not obliged to pay what others may consider a fair sum.

In another way, too, the IRS, has the last word. For the informer, having won his reward, must then pay income tax on it.

In fact, there have even been cases in which informers themselves were fined for failing to pay the tax on their reward. No doubt Tom Sawyer would have a phrase for that.

Poetic justice.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Are You A Potential Heart Patient?

By Dr. R. Kositchek and Vera Kositchek

One of the greatest killers in this world today is heart disease of one kind or another. For years the medical profession has probed into the causes, developed remedies for diagnosis and extended treatment or machinery to diet and alleviate the injuries which cause the "heart and matter."

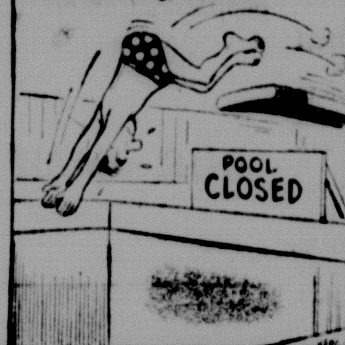

Dr. R. J. Kositchek of St. Joseph's Hospital in Berkeley, California, says his findings indicate that the amount of fat eaten is the major cause of heart problems. He bases this opinion on studies of the Navajo Indians who, although their diet is based largely on fat and grains, eat only 1100 calories a day. When, however, they leave the reservation and join the life of the white men they tend to eat more and become victims of heart problems which are relatively rare within their tribal lives. The same findings by other heart specialists hold true for the Japanese who eat sparingly of both rice and fish as their staple diet, and have a low rate of cardiac deaths until they adopt a diet of foods high in cholesterol.

Dr. Kositchek, however, has gone one step further by developing four simple questions which have proven 90% correct in predicting heart disease:

1. Do you dislike helping your wife with the dishes, chafing under the idea that you could be doing something more important? (It can be assumed that any other trivial chore which irritates either a man or woman would be equally valid in this question.)
2. Do slow drivers bother you?
3. Do you try to win when playing games with your children?
4. Do you feel time is getting away from you?

According to Dr. Kositchek, who is also President of the American Cardiac Foundation, if the answers to these four questions are YES, you are probably on your way to becoming a victim of some form of heart disease.

There's one lure you'll find in almost every fisherman's tackle box. That's the spinner lure. It comes in various forms and just plain spinners.

It is no secret why spinners are so universally popular. Day in and day out, season after season, a spinner will catch more fish, more consistently than any other lure.

One day I asked a friend of mine who owns a sporting goods store what one lure he would recommend to a man who knew nothing about fishing.

"This one," he said showing me an Abu Spinner. It's the Garcia lure with the solid metal body a treble hook dressed in a bucktail on one end and a revolving chrome spinner at the line end. Evans calls theirs the Shyster. Dave Hawks calls his the Champion. But the principle is the same. "Why this one?" I asked.

"Because all you have to do is throw it out and reel it in to catch fish," he explained. "It won't catch as many big fish as some other lures, but it will catch more fish."

Old-time fishermen know that the spinner is one of the oldest

One is the straight shaft spinner with the metal body and a shaft running horizontally through it. There's a hook and bucktail on one end, the spinner and line eye on the other.

Second design has an offset spinner. This one is built on a V-shaped piece of wire. On one leg is the hook and bucktail or rubber skirt, on the other is the spinner. The line eye is at the apex.

Although there are many different shapes and designs of spinners, the two most basic and popular are the Colorado and the Willow Leaf.

The Colorado is teardrop shaped while the Willow Leaf is long and narrow.

The thin spinner runs through the water with less resistance and consequently less flash, but it has its place in the angling scheme.

In swift water, for instance, the larger Colorado spinner may turn too violently, twisting the line and causing too much flash. This instance would call for the Willow Leaf. But in still waters, the Colorado spinner is better.

If you prefer two spinners on a bait, use the Willow Leaf design. Two Colorado spinners create unnecessary drag and resistance and twist the line even if a swivel is used.

Spinners also come in many colors. They are made from various materials such as stainless steel, nickel, brass and copper. Most popular are the chrome shine and the hammered brass.

Although a spinner creates a flash in the water, this is only part of its appeal. Additionally, it causes vibrations, which attract some fish. So with a spinner you are creating two distinctive motivations which cause fish to strike -- flash and vibration.

It wasn't too long back that a spinner was simply fished in the conventional manner, cast out and reeled in. This caused the lure to travel some two to four feet under the surface.

But many fishermen have learned to put the spinner deep. They allow it to plummet to the bottom before starting it back. Or they put it right on the bottom and retrieve it with an up-and-down jugging motion. This lifting the lure up and allowing it to flutter back down keeps the spinners barely tick-tocking.

At times it also pays to skitter the spinning lure along the surface, perhaps over submerged moss or weeds. This can be affected by reeling in the moment the lure kisses the surface and holding your rod tip almost straight up. Thus the spinner will fan the water as the lure skirts across the surface.

Beauty of the spinner-type lure is that it can be used effectively in many different ways . . . and it catches fish.
